DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-4 and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mossberg et al. US Pat. 6,318,134.

Mossberg et al. teaches a privacy keypad comprising :

a face plate (please refer to fig. 1);

a keypad 22;

at least one protrusion 20 integral with the face plate and extending laterally adjacent the keypad; and the protrusion having a sufficient height and length to obstruct at least partially a line of sight to the keypad.

Regarding claim 2, please refer to fig. 2.

Regarding claim 3, the protrusion forms an angle of "at least about 10 degrees."

Regarding claim 4, please refer to fig. 3.

Regarding claims 7 and 8, the protrusion covers all sides of the keypad to provide a channel.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mossberg et al. in view of Priesemuth US Pat. 5,651,450.

Mossberg et al. teaches the claimed invention except for the protrusion comprising of a light source. Priesemuth teaches a protrusion 60 comprising a light source (LED) for the purpose of providing a visional indication. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide the protrusion of Mossberg et al. with a light source as taught by Priesemuth, since the light source would provide the device of Mossberg et al. with a visional indication.
